

JT's Top Ten List—

Morning

1. Read-Write-Think <http://www.readwritethink.org/>
Great set of online activities for a wide range of learners as well as excellent lesson plans
2. PPT Game Templates http://teach.fcps.net/trt14/Power Point Games/power_point_games.htm
Wonderful time saver with already made PPT templates for a wide range of games and curriculum areas
3. The Brain Connection <http://brainconnecton.positscience.com/>
Treasure trove of information on the brain, the mysteries of learning, and good ideas for learning strategies
4. Kathy Schrock's Sites of the Day <http://school.discoveryeducation.com/schrockguide/sos.html>
The place to visit to stay current on great Internet site—focus this year on Web 2.0 options
5. Monterey Bay Aquarium <http://www.montereybayaquarium.org/>
Six web cams for virtual travel as well as a great reference site
6. Lanternfish http://bogglesworldesl.com/esl_games.htm
A number of well crafted games for helping ESL students—game boards are in MS Word format
7. MegaPenny Project <http://www.kokogiak.com/megapenny/>
A wonderful visual look at pennies counting from one to one quintillion
8. Morning Math http://www.education-world.com/a_admin/archives/morning_math.shtml
Great set of math activities done by grade level
9. Annenberg Media Learner <http://www.learner.org/>
Professional development online—check out reading & math options
10. TuxPaint <http://www.tuxpaint.org/>
Free, open source drawing program for Mac, Windows, and Linux—easy to use

JT's Top Ten List—

Afternoon

1. Vocaroo <http://www.vocaroo.com/>
Create audio files with ease—save, e-mail, or embed—wide range of uses
2. Flickr <http://www.flickr.com/>
Superb digital picture sharing site—check out Notes & Description options
3. Flickr Toys <http://bighugelabs.com/>
Wonderful set of tools to use with images stored in Flickr—check out the Cube and Trading Card selections
4. Wordle <http://www.wordle.net>
Easy-to-use Web 2.0 tool for making word clouds...so many uses!
5. Awesome Highlighter <http://www.awesomehighlighter.com/>
Help students find the important information on a web site by creating a highlighted version with ease
6. Exploratorium <http://www.exploratorium.edu/>
Classic hands-on science museum with superb virtual exhibits
7. Spelling City <http://www.spellingcity.com/>
Superb online drill and skill option for practicing spelling
8. Internet Archive <http://www.archive.org/index.php>
Access to movies, e-texts, music, and a variety of other copyright friendly materials—check out the Way Back Machine
9. Millennium Stage <http://www.kennedy-center.org/programs/millennium/>
Archived webcasts of a wide range of free performances at Kennedy Center
10. Zoho Polls <http://zohopolls.com/>
Quick way to create and do an online poll—easy export to Excel spreadsheet
11. Today's Meet for Today <http://todaysmeet.com/JTBERK-6>
This transcript of the back channel for the session today is available until 12/15/2012